Neptune Pools was established by John Van Der Haar in 1959 and has seen many hundreds of happy clients over the subsequent four-and-a-half decades. The company has built its reputation on quality, integrity and service.

Neptune pools specialises in quality, well-designed swimming pools and spas, building approximately 60 domestic and a handful of commercial pools each year in Melbourne and throughout Victoria. Most pools are designed by Neptune Pools, though the company also works well in conjunction with designers, architects and home builders.

Neptune can design and build landscaping, but generally recommends quality landscapers experienced with working with the company. Neptune Pools is a member of SPASA.

PHOTOGRAPHY BY TIM TURNER

This Neptune design (pages 76 and 77) revitalised a rundown '70s swimming pool. The new concept took on a modern European flavour which better suits the owners' lifestyle. The new structure was formed within the existing shell. The pool was squared off and generous full-width steps were incorporated into the shallow end. As with many older pools, the original design was quite deep. This provided the potential for Neptune to install an automated in-floor cleaning system. Additionally, there was room to install a Sunbather Safety Cover, which retracts into a pit beneath the cabana. This serves not only as a safety device, but also to conserve water and chemicals which could otherwise be lost by evaporation. It also reduces dirt falling into the pool. The renovated pool features automated sanitisation and Sunbather solar heating.
